

SAYS COFFEE DRINKERS HAVE REAL DRUG HABIT

Physician Declares Food Value Is Nil and People Use It Only for Stimulation.

That many people are slaves to tea and coffee appears from a statement of Dr. C. J. Douglass, of Dorchester, Mass. "They do not distinguish the difference between drugs and food in their effect on the system."

"There is no substitute for an enervating drug. When the effect of one dose is worn off, another dose of the same drug must be taken or discomfort follows, but if nutrition is wanted, a hundred different foods will supply the demand with equally satisfactory results."

"Tea and coffee are never taken because of any small nutritive element they may contain. Some drink them in small quantities merely because the taste is agreeable, or to wash down solid food. On the other hand, if a sufficient quantity is habitually taken, so that when they are discontinued, uncomfortable symptoms follow, then it is evident that a drug habit has been formed. "If, for example, a person habitually drinks so much coffee for breakfast that on omitting it he 'misses something' during the forenoon, he may be set down as an excessive coffee drinker. He is relying on the stimulation of the drug, caffeine, and the daily use of any drug for such a purpose is injurious."

NOTE.—The food-drink INSTANT POSTUM while much resembling the higher grades of Java coffee in flavor and appearance is absolutely free from the coffee drugs 'caffeine' and 'tannin' or any other harmful ingredient. Recent decrease in coffee sales is very generally attributed to the growing American custom of using Postum as a table beverage instead of coffee.—Advt.

GEN. BRAYTON IVES DIES AT 74 IN COUNTRY HOME AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Twice President of Stock Exchange and Leading Financier—a Colonel at 22.

Gen. Brayton Ives, for forty years one of the leading financiers of this city, died to-day at his country home at Ossining after a long illness. He was seventy-four years old and owing to failing health retired from active participation in business two years ago.

Gen. Ives was born in Farmington, Conn., in 1840, and was graduated from Yale in 1861, with the record of being the strongest student and the best oarsman in the university. As soon as he was graduated Gen. Ives went to the front in the civil war, serving through that conflict. He was brevetted Brigadier-General at 22 when he severed his connection with the army.

Coming to New York the young soldier engaged in the brokerage business and soon became a power in Wall street. He was the first man to be twice elected President of the Stock Exchange. As he grew richer and his connections became more extended he abandoned the stock brokerage business to engage in banking and his success continued. He was selected to reorganize and develop the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Gen. Ives was one of the small body of men who controlled the finances of the country under the leadership of J. Pierpont Morgan. He was President of the Metropolitan Trust Company until he retired from active business two years ago. He remained, however, a director in this company as well as in the Standard Milling Company, the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Company and other corporations.

Gen. Ives was particularly proud of his war record. At the age of twenty-two he was Colonel of the First Connecticut Cavalry and the youngest colonel in the Army. During his four years of service he was in the thick of the fighting. He was the commander of Gen. Grant's escort when the Commander-in-Chief of the Union forces went to Appomattox courthouse to receive the surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Gen. Ives was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion and of the following clubs: Century, Grolier, Metropolitan, Turf and Field, New York Yacht, Brook Union League, University and Lawyers. He was a life-long collector of rare books and objects of art and is believed to have a wonderful collection.

GIRL SUES MILLIONAIRE FOR $25,000; ATTORNEY PROMISES SENSATIONS

Mystery Surrounds Massage Student's Suit Against George G. Murray.

Mystery surrounds a suit for $25,000 filed to-day in the Supreme Court by Corinne Louise Bannister against George G. Murray, who is reputed to be a millionaire, with a summer residence at Newport, R. I. Randolph M. Newman, attorney for Miss Bannister, said she had been a client for more than ten years, but he was not at liberty to say who she was or where she lived. "Is it a breach of promise suit?" the lawyer was asked. "It's something like it," was his reply. "Who is Mr. Murray?" he was asked. "He is a prominent millionaire," the lawyer answered, "and he has a summer place at Newport. You remember the suit brought by Mae Sullivan against Arthur I. Hoe, the millionaire? Well, this suit is like that, and if anything is more sensational in its details than the Hoe suit."

At the offices of Mr. Murray, room 618 of the Vanderbilt Avenue Building, No. 51 East Forty-second street, it was said he was ill at his home. The papers were served in his office yesterday. A friend of Miss Bannister said it was understood that she had been a pupil and then a teacher in the Carpine School of instruction, which was a large institution for teaching young women the art of hairdressing and massage. When inquiry was made at the offices of the school it was said that the institution had ceased to be a school and was now known as the Carpine Preparations. Mr. Murray was said to be treasurer of the corporation and also a director. In the Directory of Directors George G. Murray is listed as secretary and treasurer of Hudson & Co., manufacturing chemists, and as a director and officer in the Watchmark Water Company.

$2,000 FOR GAYNOR PICTURE.

Committee Urges Purchase of Philip Canova.
The special committee appointed to make recommendations regarding the purchase by the city of a portrait of Mayor Gaynor, to be hung in City Hall, reported to-day in favor of a canvas by J. Campbell Phillips. The committee, consisting of Cyrus C. Miller, Mayor; A. E. Steers and Borough President Fournier of Brooklyn, asks that the Board of Aldermen appropriate $2,000 to pay for the painting. American Jailed in London.
LONDON, Oct. 22.—Orlando Edgar Miller, formerly of Chicago, who was convicted of having caused the death of Miss Kate Addison Scott by the administration of a drug while she was a patient in a sanatorium conducted by him here, was sentenced to-day to imprisonment for three months.

The Nemo Corset Gives Individuality to Every Woman

To have individuality in one's appearance is just as vital as to have personality radiate from one's character. Thousands of American women lack this ambition. They all dress alike and have the same thoughts. To have individuality in dress one must have the right corset as a foundation—the corset that will conform with one's figure and idealize one's lines. There is such a corset—the "Nemo." And it is made in models for slender women, those with medium figures and also for stout women.
